"Rditure of the Union and American."

Union and American. FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1866.

["Bully for you!"] I was going to say, may countrymen, a short time since I was blaced upon the ticket and elected. There was a platform proclaimed and adopted by those who placed me upon it. Notwities standing a subsidized gang of hirelings who have not seased to traduce me. I have discharged all my official duties, and fulfilled all my pledges. And I say here to-night that if my predecessor had lived, the vials of wrath would have poured out upon him. [Cries, "Never!" and three cheers for the Congress of the United States.] I came here as I was passing along, and having been called upon for the perpose of exchanging views, and ascertaining, if we could, who was wrong. [Cries "You are!"] That was my object in appearing before you to-night. I want to say that I have lived among the American people, and have represented them in some public capacity for the lest want to say that I have lived among the American people, and have represented them in some public capacity for the lest want for the lest want for the perpose of the lest want to say that I have lived among the American people, and have represented them in some public capacity for the lest want to say that I have lived among the American people, and have represented them in some public capacity for the lest want to say that I have lived among the American people, and have represented them in some public capacity for the lest want to say that I have lived and substitute that if my predecessor had lived, the vials of wind the people were to carry them into executation of the people was twelve millions of dollars at the beginning. The further expense would be greater, and their fortunes, and their sacred bonor, all that all men—not a black man, not an Irishman—but that all men were doctrine that all men—and a bacteriated out with the contract of the total man, the freed-ministic way to with the people were of sufficient for the fortunes, and their sacred donor, all their fives, in their lives, in the list of whom were pledged in their lives, placed upon the ticket and elected. There resented them in some public capacity for

Where is the man or the woman who can place his finger upon one single act of mine deviating from any pledges of mine, or in violation of the Constitution of the country? Cheers and cries of "New Orleans."] Who he?-what language does he speak?what religion does he profess?-that can come and place his finger upon one pledge I ever violated, or one principle I ever proved false to? [Voice, "New Orleans!" Another, "Why don't you hang JEF?. Davis?" Hang JEFF. DAVIS? [Shouts and cries of "Down with him!" Hang JEFF. DAVIS? [Voice, "Hang WENDELL PHIL-LIPS!"] Why don't you hang him? [Cries of "Give us an opportunity!"] Haven't you got the court? Haven't you got the Attorney General? Who is you Chief Justice, who has refused to sit on his trial? [Groans and cheers.] I am not the Chief Justice! I jury! But I'll tell you what I did do. I I upon your Congress, that is trying to break up the Government, [Hisses and cries of "A lie!" Great confusion. Voice, Don't get mad ["] I am not mad. [Hisses.] I will tell you who is mad. "Whom the gods want to destroy they first make mad." Did your Congress order any of them to be tried? [Three cheers for the last twenty-five years.

Then, fellow citizens, we might as well ullay our passion and permit reason to resume her empire and prevail. In presenting the few remarks that I designed to make, my intention was to address myself to your common sense, your judgment, your better feelings, not to the passion and malignancy of your hearts. [Voice, "How about Mo-ses?"] This was my object in presenting myself on this occasion, and to say "how d'ye" and "good bye." In the assembly here to-night the remark has been made, "Traitor?" Traitor, my countrymen! Will you hear me? [Cries, "Yes!"] And will you hear me for my cause and for the Constitution of my country? ["Yes! Go on!"] I want to know when or where, or under what circumstances, Andrew Johnson, not as Executive, but in any capacity, ever deserted any principle, or violated the Consti-tution of his country. [Never! never!] Let me ask this large and intellige andience if your Secretary of State, who served four years under Mr. Lincoln, and who was placed upon the butcher's block as if were, and hacked and gashed all to ieces, scarred by the assassin's knife-when turned traitor? [Cries of "Never!"]
If I were disposed to play the orator and cal in declamation, even to-night I would imitate one of the ancient tragedies, and would take Mr. SEWARD, bring him before you, and point you to the backs and scars spon his person. [Voice, "God bless him!"] I would exhibit the bloody garments satu rated with gore from his gaping wounds. Then I would ask you who is the traitor? [Voice, "Than, Stevens!"] Why don't you hang Than, Stevens and Wendell. PHILLIPS ? [Cheers.] I have been fighting traitors in the South. They have been whipped and crushed. They acknowledge heir defeat, and accept the terms of the And now, as I go round the circle, having
